Case No.: 2:20-cv-01044-MCE-CKD

MOTION TO INTERVENE AS DEFENDANTS

1 PARTY,

2 Proposed
3 Intervenor-
4 Defendants.

5 Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 24, Proposed Intervenor-Defendants DCCC
6 and California Democratic Party (together, “Proposed Intervenor-Defendants”) move to intervene as 7 defendants in the above-titled action.

8 Plaintiffs Darrell Issa, James B. Oerding, Jerry Griffin, Michelle Bolotin, and Michael 9 Sienkiewicz challenge the election plans instituted by Defendants Gavin Newsom, the Governor
10 of California (the “Governor”), and Alex Padilla, the California Secretary of State, for the 11 November 3, 2020 general election (the “Election”). Defendants’ decision to implement a 12 primarily all-mail system for the Election is not only reasonable, but constitutionally required to 13 ensure that all eligible California voters can safely exercise their franchise in the midst of the 14 coronavirus pandemic. Plaintiffs allege a slew of claims in an attempt to undermine Defendants’
15 effort to protect California voters during an unprecedented public health crisis. In so doing, they 16 pose a clear and direct threat to Proposed Intervenor-Defendants’ rights and legal interests.

17 For the reasons set forth below, Proposed Intervenor-Defendants are entitled to intervene in this case
18 as a matter of right under Rule 24(a)(2). Such intervention is needed not only to ensure the fairness
19 of the Election but also to safeguard the substantial and distinct legal interests of Proposed 20 Intervenor-Defendants, which will otherwise be inadequately represented in the litigation. In the alternative, 21 Proposed Intervenor-Defendants should be granted permissive intervention pursuant to Rule 24(b). In 22 accordance with Rule 24(c), a proposed Answer is attached as Exhibit 1.

23 BACKGROUND

24 In response to the unprecedented public health crisis dominating headlines and impacting 25 daily lives across the globe, the Governor proclaimed a state of emergency on March 4, 2020. See
26 Complaint, ECF No. 1, ¶ 27, Ex. 1. Two months later, in an effort to both protect and assist voters
27 during the pandemic, the Governor issued Executive Order (“EO”) N-64-20 on May 8. Id. ¶ 35,

1 Ex. 2. Among other provisions, EO N-64-20 requires that

2 county election officials shall transmit vote-by-mail ballots for the [Election] to all
3 voters who are, as of the last day on which vote-by-mail ballots may be transmitted
4 to voters in connection with that election, registered to vote in that election. . . .
5 [E]very Californian who is eligible to vote in the [Election] shall receive a vote-by-6 mail ballot.

7 Id., Ex. 2 at 2. The distribution of mail ballots will be accompanied by meaningful opportunities
8 for in-person voting, as well as a publicity campaign to educate California voters. Id., Ex. 2 at 2– 9 3.

10 Plaintiffs, backed by the conservative group Judicial Watch, subsequently filed this 11 complaint to block Californians’ access to the ballot.¹

12 STANDARD OF LAW

13 “Rule 24 traditionally receives liberal construction in favor of applicants for intervention.”
14 Arkaki v. Cayetano, 324 F.3d 1078, 1083 (9th Cir. 2003); see also Conservation Cong. v. U.S.
15 Forest Serv., No. 2:16-cv-00864-MCE-AC, 2018 WL 529484, at *1 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 23, 2018) 16 (noting that “[a] liberal policy in favor of intervention serves both efficient resolution of issues and 17 broadened access to the courts” and “prevent[s] or simplif[ies] future litigation involving related 18 issues” (quoting United States v. City of Los Angeles, 288 F.3d 391, 397–98 (9th Cir. 2002))).

19 “To determine whether a party may intervene as of right” under Rule 24(a)(2), courts 20 “employ a four-part test”:

- 21 (1) the motion must be timely; (2) the applicant must claim a “significantly 22 protectable interest” in the action; (3) the disposition of the action must as a 23 practical matter impair or impede the applicant’s ability to protect that interest; and 24 (4) the applicant’s interest may be inadequately represented by the other parties.

26 Cal. Nov. 13, 2018) (quoting Allied Concrete & Supply Co. v. Baker, 904 F.3d 1053, 1067 (9th

1 Cir. 2018)).

2 A court may grant permissive intervention to a party under Rule 24(b) “if that party shows
3 ‘(1) independent grounds for jurisdiction; (2) the motion is timely; and (3) the applicant’s claim or 4 defense, and the main action, have a question of law or a question of fact in common.’”
5 Conservation Cong., 2018 WL 529484, at *1 (quoting Nw. Forest Res. Council v. Glickman, 82
6 F.3d 825, 839 (9th Cir. 1996)).

7 ARGUMENT

8 I. Proposed Intervenors satisfy Rule 24(a)(2)’s requirements for intervention as a 9 matter of right.

10 Proposed Intervenors satisfy each of the four requirements of Rule 24(a)(2).

11 First, the motion is timely. Plaintiffs filed their complaint on May 21, 2020; this motion
12 follows less than two weeks later, before any significant action in the case. There has been no
13 delay, and there is no possible risk of prejudice to the other parties. See League of United Latin
14 Am. Citizens v. Wilson, 131 F.3d 1297, 1302 (9th Cir. 1997); see also Conservation Cong., 2018
15 WL 529484, at *2 (granting motion to intervene filed nearly one year after action commenced);
16 Cal. Dump Truck Owners Ass’n v. Nichols, 275 F.R.D. 303, 306 (E.D. Cal. 2011) (granting motion 17 to intervene filed in April where “Plaintiff filed its case in February, amended its complaint at the 18 beginning of April and no substantive proceedings have been had”).

19 Second and third, Proposed Intervenors have significant protectable interests in this 20 lawsuit that might be impaired by Plaintiffs’ causes of action. “[G]iven the liberal policy in favor 21 of intervention, a would-be intervenor’s interest is deemed ‘significantly protectable’ under the 22 Ninth Circuit’s test when it ‘is protectable under some law, and . . . there is a relationship between 23 the legally protected interest and the claims at issue’ such that the intervenor may ‘suffer a practical 24 impairment of its interests as a result of the pending litigation.’” W. States Trucking, 2018 WL 25 5920148, at *2 (second alteration in original) (quoting Wilderness Soc’y v. U.S. Forest Serv., 630
26 F.3d 1173, 1179 (9th Cir. 2011)). In assessing whether such an interest is sufficiently “impair[ed]
27 or impede[d],” Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(a)(2), courts “look[] to the ‘practical consequences’ of denying 28

1 intervention.” Nat. Res. Def. Council v. Costle, 561 F.2d 904, 909 (D.C. Cir. 1977) (quoting Nuesse
2 v. Camp, 385 F.2d 694, 702 (D.C. Cir. 1967)); see also Conservation Cong., 2018 WL 529484, at 3 *1 (“In evaluating whether [Rule 24(a)’s] requirements are met, courts ‘are guided primarily by 4 practical and equitable considerations.’” (quoting City of Los Angeles, 288 F.3d at 397)).

5 Plaintiffs’ challenge to Defendants’ plans to conduct the Election primarily by mail
6 compromises Proposed Intervenors’ legally protected interests. Without expansive options to vote 7 by mail, many voters will be forced to choose between risking their health to vote in person and 8 participating in the Election. If Plaintiffs succeed and Defendants’ plans to mail ballots to 9 registered voters are thwarted, then fewer Democratic voters will have an opportunity to vote in 10 the Election. Proposed Intervenors—both of which are organizations dedicated to promoting the 11 franchise and ensuring the election of Democratic Party candidates—have a cognizable interest in 12 asserting the rights of their members who would lose the ability to cast ballots. See Crawford v.
13 Marion Cty. Election Bd., 472 F.3d 949, 951 (7th Cir. 2007) (“The Democratic Party [] has 14 standing to assert the rights of those of its members who will be prevented from voting by the new 15 law.”), aff’d, 553 U.S. 181 (2008).

16 This lawsuit also risks interference with Proposed Intervenors’ electoral prospects. If 17 Plaintiffs’ challenge is successful, the result will be far less robust voter turnout among Democratic 18 Party supporters. Courts have routinely concluded that interference with a political party’s
19 electoral prospects constitutes a direct injury that satisfies Article III standing, which goes beyond 20 the requirement needed for intervention under Rule 24(a)(2) in this case. See, e.g., Owen v.
21 Mulligan, 640 F.2d 1130, 1132 (9th Cir. 1981) (holding that “the potential loss of an election” is 22 sufficient injury to confer Article III standing); Tex. Democratic Party v. Benkiser, 459 F.3d 582, 23 586–87 (5th Cir. 2006) (recognizing that “harm to [] election prospects” constitutes “a concrete 24 and particularized injury”); Ohio Org. Collaborative v. Husted, 189 F. Supp. 3d 708, 726 (S.D.
25 Ohio 2016) (political party “established an injury in fact” where “the challenged provisions will 26 make it more difficult for its members and constituents to vote”), rev’d on other grounds sub nom.
27 Ohio Democratic Party v. Husted, 834 F.3d 620 (6th Cir. 2016); N.C. State Conference of NAACP

1 v. McCrory, 997 F. Supp. 2d 322, 342 (M.D.N.C. 2014) (political party has “direct, particularized
2 interest in the outcome of an election”), aff’d in part, rev’d in part on other grounds sub nom.
3 League of Women Voters of N.C. v. North Carolina, 769 F.3d 224 (4th Cir. 2014); see also Town
4 of Chester v. Laroe Estates, Inc., 137 S. Ct. 1645, 1651 (2017) (noting that an intervenor by right
5 only needs “Article III standing in order to pursue relief that is different from that which is sought 6 by a party with standing”).

7 Moreover, the disruptive and disenfranchising effects of Plaintiffs’ action would require
8 Proposed Intervenors to divert resources to address the lack of mail ballots—another legally
9 protected interest that is implicated by Plaintiffs’ claims. See, e.g., Crawford, 472 F.3d at 951
10 (concluding that “new law injures the Democratic Party by compelling the party to devote 11 resources to getting to the polls those of its supporters who would otherwise be discouraged by the 12 new law from bothering to vote”); Democratic Nat’l Comm. v. Reagan, 329 F. Supp. 3d 824, 841
13 (D. Ariz. 2018) (finding standing where law “require[d] Democratic organizations . . . to retool 14 their [get-out-the-vote] strategies and divert [] resources”), rev’d on other grounds sub nom.
15 Democratic Nat’l Comm. v. Hobbs, 948 F.3d 989 (9th Cir. 2020) (en banc).

16 Fourth, Proposed Intervenors cannot rely on the parties in this case to adequately represent 17 their interests. Courts consider “three factors in determining the adequacy of representation”:

18 (1) whether the interest of a present party is such that it will undoubtedly make all 19 of a proposed intervenor’s arguments; (2) whether the present party is capable and 20 willing to make such arguments; and (3) whether a proposed intervenor would offer any necessary elements to the proceeding that other parties would neglect.

21 Arakaki, 324 F.3d at 1086. “The ‘most important factor’ in assessing the adequacy of 22 representation is ‘how the interest compares with the interests of existing parties.’” Citizens for 23 Balanced Use v. Mont. Wilderness Ass’n, 647 F.3d 893, 898 (9th Cir. 2011) (quoting Arakaki, 324 24 F.3d at 1086). This fourth intervention requirement “is satisfied if the applicant shows that 25 representation of his interest ‘may be’ inadequate, and the burden of making that showing should 26 be treated as minimal.” W. States Trucking, 2018 WL 5920148, at *2 (quoting Trbovich v. United 27 Mine Workers of Am., 404 U.S. 528, 538 n.10 (1972)).

1 Like Defendants, Proposed Intervenors support the expansion of vote by mail for the 2 Election and vigorously dispute Plaintiffs' contentions that mail voting is either unconstitutional
3 or likely to result in increased fraud. But ultimately, Proposed Intervenors and Defendants have 4 interests and concerns that diverge, and so Proposed Intervenors' interests are not shared by any 5 party in this litigation. While Defendants have an undeniable interest in defending both their plans
6 for the Election and their inherent powers as state executives, Proposed Intervenors have a different
7 focus: ensuring that each of their members in California and each voter they represent through 8 their efforts has a meaningful opportunity to cast a ballot. Courts have "often concluded that 9 governmental entities do not adequately represent the interests of aspiring intervenors." Fund for 10 Animals, Inc. v. Norton, 322 F.3d 728, 736 (D.C. Cir. 2003); accord Citizens for Balanced Use,
11 647 F.3d at 899 ("[T]he government's representation of the public interest may not be 'identical 12 to the individual parochial interest' of a particular group just because 'both entities occupy the 13 same posture in the litigation.'" (quoting WildEarth Guardians v. U.S. Forest Serv., 573 F.3d 992, 14 996 (10th Cir. 2009))); cf. Paher v. Cegavske, No. 3:20-cv-00243-MMD-WGC, 2020 WL 15 2042365, at *3 (D. Nev. Apr. 28, 2020) (concluding that "Proposed Intervenors . . . have 16 demonstrated entitlement to intervene as a matter of right" where they "may present arguments
17 about the need to safeguard [the] right to vote that are distinct from Defendants' arguments"). That 18 is the case here, where Proposed Intervenors have specific interests and concerns—from their 19 overall electoral prospects to the most efficient use of their limited resources to promote get-out-20 the-vote-efforts—that neither Defendants nor any other party in this lawsuit share. Cf. Associated 21 Gen. Contractors of Am. v. Cal. Dep't of Transp., No. 09-01622, 2009 WL 5206722, at *2–3 (E.D.
22 Cal. Dec. 23, 2009) (granting intervention where defendant state agency's "main interest is 23 ensuring safe public roads and highways" and agency "is not charged by law with advocating on 24 behalf of minority business owners" as intervenors would).

25 In short, Defendants do not have sufficiently congruent interests "such that [they] will 26 undoubtedly make all of" Proposed Intervenors' arguments. Arakaki, 324 F.3d at 1086. While 27 Proposed Intervenors and Defendants "may share the same 'ultimate objective'"—ensuring that 28

1 Californians can vote by mail in the Election—“the parties’ interests are neither ‘identical’ nor 2 ‘the same.’” Nichols, 275 F.R.D. at 308 (quoting Sw. Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. Berg, 268
3 F.3d 810, 823 (9th Cir. 2001)). This divergence of interests, viewpoints, and objectives satisfies
4 the fourth requirement of Rule 24(a)(2). See, e.g., Kleissler v. U.S. Forest Serv., 157 F.3d 964, 974
5 (3d Cir. 1998) (granting motion to intervene as of right where private parties’ interests diverged
6 from the government’s interest in representation, and where “[t]he early presence of intervenors
7 may serve to prevent errors from creeping into the proceedings, clarify some issues, and perhaps 8 contribute to an amicable settlement”); W. States Trucking, 2018 WL 5920148, at *2 (similar 9 (citing Allied Concrete, 904 F.3d at 1068; Californians for Safe & Competitive Dump Truck
10 Transp. v. Mendonca, 152 F.3d 1184, 1190 (9th Cir. 1998))); Conservation Cong., 2018 WL
11 529484, at *3 (similar).²

12 II. Alternatively, Proposed Intervenors satisfy Rule 24(b)’s requirements for permissive 13 intervention.

14 Even if this Court were to find Proposed Intervenors ineligible for intervention as of right, 15 Proposed Intervenors easily satisfy the requirements for permissive intervention under Rule 24(b).

16 “District courts have broad discretion to allow permissive intervention.” Snowlands
17 Network v. United States, No. 2:11-cv-02921-MCE-DAD, 2012 WL 4755161, at *4 (E.D. Cal.
18 Oct. 4, 2012) (citing Spangler v. Pasadena City Bd. of Educ., 552 F.2d 1326, 1329 (9th Cir. 1977)).
19 “Permissive intervention is appropriate” where the proposed intervenor submits a timely motion
20 and its “claim [or] defense and the main action [] have a question of law and fact in common.”

21
22 ² Additionally, Proposed Intervenor DCCC is among the groups currently advocating in other
23 states for expanded access to vote by mail in light of the ongoing pandemic. See, e.g., Complaint, 24 Middleton v. Andino, No. 3:20-cv-01730-JMC (D.S.C. May 1, 2020); Motion to Intervene as 25 Defendants, Paher v. Cegavske, No. 3:20-cv-00243-MMD-WGC (D. Nev. Apr. 27, 2020).
26 Accordingly, Proposed Intervenors would bring both an informed perspective and specialized 27 knowledge to these proceedings. Cf. Snowlands Network v. United States, No. 2:11-cv-02921-28 MCE-DAD, 2012 WL 4755161, at *3 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 4, 2012) (granting motion to intervene as of right where proposed intervenors possessed both “more specific goals and objectives” and “intimate knowledge” of the pertinent issues).

1 Nichols, 275 F.R.D. at 309 (quoting Venegas v. Skaggs, 867 F.2d 527, 529 (9th Cir. 1989)).³
2 Additionally, “[i]n exercising its discretion to grant or deny permissive intervention, a court must 3 consider whether the intervention will ‘unduly delay or prejudice the adjudication of the’” original
4 parties’ rights. Venegas, 867 F.2d at 530 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 24(b)(3)).

5 For the reasons discussed in Part I supra, Proposed Intervenors’ motion is timely, and they 6 cannot rely on Defendants to adequately protect their interests. Proposed Intervenors also have 7 defenses to Plaintiffs’ claims that share common questions of law and fact. For example, Proposed
8 Intervenors contend that Defendants acted lawfully when they issued plans to make voting easier
9 for Californians in light of the pandemic.

10 And significantly, intervention will result in neither prejudice nor undue delay. Proposed 11 Intervenors have an undeniable interest in a swift resolution of this action, to ensure that 12 Defendants have sufficient time to allow every California voter to cast a ballot in the Election.
13 Given the legal and factual shortcomings of Plaintiffs’ claims, Proposed Intervenors are confident
14 that their intervention in this case, and the filings that will follow, will result in expeditious 15 resolution of this litigation.

16 CONCLUSION

17 For the reasons stated above, Proposed Intervenors respectfully request that the Court grant
18 their motion to intervene as a matter of right under Rule 24(a)(2) or, in the alternative, permit them
19 to intervene under Rule 24(b).

26 ³ The additional requirement that the proposed intervenor demonstrate an independent basis for 27 jurisdiction “does not apply to proposed intervenors in federal-question cases when the proposed 28 intervenor is not raising new claims.” Freedom from Religion Found., Inc. v. Geithner, 644 F.3d 836, 844 (9th Cir. 2011); see also Complaint ¶ 3.
