PAULA M OVERBY

COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

v.

STEVE SIMON, in his official capacity as Minnesota Secretary of State, and TIMOTHY WALZ, in his official capacity as Governor of Minnesota,

Plaintiff,

Defendant.

Plaintiff requests expedited handling of the motion.

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This case involves a provision in Minnesota state law that calls for a special election for public office in Minnesota if a major political party candidate nominated to run in a coming election dies after the 79th day before the election.Minn. Stat. § 204B.13 (the "Postponement Provisions" or "Provisions"). fThe Legal Marijuana Now partty (LMNP) candidate passed away on September 24th, invoking this special provision, requiring the secretary of state to register a new candidate for the LMNP and the Govenor to issue a writ calling for a spcial election.

COM

5. The LMNP appointed a new candidate, Paula Overby, to replace Adam Weeks the deceased candidate according to laws of the state of Minnesota but her name has not been placed on the ballot for the Nov 3 general election. That was the process in place in Minnesota prior to the passage of Minn. Stat. § 204B, 13 (the "Postponement Provisions") which allows for a more orderly process.

There as been no write to schedule a special election.

6. As a candidate duly and lawfully selected by the Legal Marijuana Party plaintiff Paula Overby has a right and a responsibility to represent their interests. It is insufficient to suggest that people who support the party goals can do so by voting for Adam weeks. Voters deserve a candidate that can actively campaign and assert the interests of the party.

7. As representative of the party, plaintiff Paula Overby also has individual standing because plaintiff is personally harmed. Paula Overby will not appear on the ballot for a Nov 3 election. Plaintiff Paula Overby is further harmed by being denied the ability to campaign and represent the interests of the party and the voters who support the party. According to Minnesota Minn. Stat. § 204B.09 Subd. voters who would choose to write-in my name as a viable representative of the party would not have their votes counted.

Minn. Stat. § 204B.09 Subd. 3 (a) A candidate for county, state, or federal office who wants write-in votes for the candidate to be counted must file a written request with the filing office for the office sought not more than 84 days before the primary and no later than the seventh day before the general election. The filing officer shall provide copies of the form to make the request. No written request shall be accepted later than 5:00 pm. on the last day for filing a written request.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

8. Angle Craig file a motion UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA, attempting to define the provision as unconsitutional, Case No. 20-cv-2066.

9. The Postponement Provisions are constitutional as applied to federal elections for the U.S. House of Representatives. The constitution gives states the power to prescribe "[t]he Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives," While the constitution also allows that, "the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Place of choosing Senators." U.S. const., art. 1, § 4.Federal law 2 U.S.C. § 7, specifies the time of the election for U.S. House of representatives shall be in November of even numbered years but the constitution is not specific about the appropriate action when the time of the election conflicts with the manner of the election. Given the importance of democratic process, fair elections, and equal protection under the law, it is reasonable that the manner of the election specified by state law would have higher priority than the time of the election specified by federal law indicating a lack of any conflict between the federal law and the state law. The federal law is a general case and the state law is a specific case that deals with rare and unusual circumstances.

10. Voting is a ritical right of citizens but it is imperative to balance the potential inconvenience or uncertainty that might be caused by a special election with the potential harm that many voters will not have their vote counted at all. Confusion around voting is already extreme because of the pandemic, and the announcement by the Secretary of State that votes for the CD2 US House election would not be counted. The Angie Craig motion has compounded that confustion. There is indeed a compelling interest for a special election as required by the Anderson-Burdick balancing test, Burdick v. Takushi, 504 U.S. 428, 434 (1992)

11. Plaintiff Paula Overby contends that Minn. Stat. § 204B.13 is consistent with, and does not conflict with, federal law, Federal law 2 U.S.C. § 7 defines the general case for federal elections under normal conditions but the context of the 2020 general election in Minnesota is anything but normal. The pandemic is clearly an exigent circumstance which itself has created a great deal of confusion about voting and concerns about if an individuals vote will be counted.

12. The state law, Minn. Stat. § 204B.13 defines the individual case and the Manner of holding Elections that ensures a democratic process, fair elections, equal protection under the law and the right of citizens to choose representation according to the will of the people.

13. Public Citizen, Inc. v. Miller, 813 F. Supp. 821 (N.D. Ga. 1993), finds "[A]s a practical matter, there must be a substantial regulation of elections if they are to be fair and honest and if some sort of order, rather than chaos is to accompany the democratic processes."); Minnesota does not have plurality law. As such Minn. Stat. § 204B.13 is consistent with a majority vote statute in defining the Manner of holding elections. It cannot be construed "A carefully crafted law that, by its sole design, invents a `failure to elect'. It is in this context a reasonable remedy where other potential remedies are exclude by the `exigent' circumstance

14. The court should also consider carefully the precedence of minimizing the death of a small party candidate. United States Court of Appeals For the Eighth Circuit Case No. 20-3126 finds that the Legal Marijuana Now Party gained major party status on the laws of Minnesota with 5.3% of the vote. 5.3% is not an insignificant number. 6% of the population is black, 4% is Asian, 2% is indigenous. The court is applying a predictive analysis. The appointed candidate of the Legal Marijuana Party, Paula Overby, was a candidate in 2016 for the U.S. House of Representatives in Minnesota Congressional District 2. She received nearly 8% of the vote as an minor party candidate. It's inreasonable to suggest that she could not gain a majority vote as a major party candidate in a special election.

15. It is not the responsibility of the court to decide the outcome of the election but to balance the impact of scheduling the election against the manner of holding the election. It is unreasonable to assert that in the Manner of an election only the incumbent candidate has protection under the law and the constitution of the United States. As such the issue of "vacancy" and failure to elect is not at issue in this case. Applying a general rule as to the date of the election to restrict the manner of the election is without precedent.
