R. KYLE ARDOIN, in his official capacity as Secretary of State of Louisiana

Defendant.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:22-cv-00178
SDD-SDJ

PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO STAY PROCEEDINGS

Plaintiffs, Dr. Dorothy Nairne, Jarrett Lofton, Rev. Clee Earnest Lowe, Dr. Alice Washington, Steven Harris, Alexis Calhoun, Black Voters Matter Capacity Building Institute, and the Louisiana State Conference of the NAACP, by and through undersigned counsel, write in opposition to the joint motion to stay proceedings filed by Defendants R. Kyle Ardoin, in his official capacity as Secretary of State of Louisiana, Clay Schexnayder, Patrick Page Cortez, and the State of Louisiana, by and through Attorney General Jeff Landry, (the "State" or "Defendants"), ECF No. 61, ("Mot."). The Defendants' motion amounts to nothing more than an untimely effort to distract this Court from their glaring violations of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, 52 U.S.C. § 10301, and should be denied.

The sole justification for the Defendants' motion is the Supreme Court's upcoming deliberations in and consideration of Merrill v. Milligan, 142 S. Ct. 879 (2022) ("Merrill"), and the Supreme Court's recent grant of certiorari before judgment and stay of injunction in Robinson v. Ardoin, Nos. 22-cv-211 and 22-cv-214. There is no reason to stay this case pending the Supreme Court's resolution of those cases. It is "[o]nly in rare circumstances will a litigant in one cause be compelled to stand aside while a litigant in another settles the rule of law that will define the rights of both." Landis v. N. Am. Co., 299 U.S. 248, 255 (1936). The Defendants have failed to meet their burden to demonstrate that these rare circumstances exist here.

I. The Defendants have failed to meet their burden of establishing that the balance of equities favors a stay.

The Defendants have failed to establish, and cannot establish, that the balance of equities supports a stay. Ultimately the Defendants have the burden of "mak[ing] out a clear case of hardship or inequity in being required to go forward[.]" Landis, 299 U.S. at 255. "[I]f there is even a fair possibility that the stay for which he prays will work damage to some one else" then a stay should not issue. Id. The Defendants cannot meet this high burden.

The Defendants waited to file their motion until four months after Plaintiffs' initial complaint was filed on March 14, 2022, which itself was filed over a month after the Supreme Court granted leave to review the questions presented in Merrill on February 7, 2022. Had the Defendants believed that the questions presented in Merrill were so inextricably linked to the instant matter and that they would be prejudiced by having to litigate prior to the resolution of Merrill, they should have filed a motion immediately after Plaintiffs filed the initial complaint. But they did not.¹ Instead, the Defendants waited until after Plaintiffs filed their initial discovery requests, after the parties conducted their initial conference pursuant to Rule 26(f) in which the Defendants agreed to the discovery schedule, after Plaintiffs served initial expert disclosures, and filed on the very day Plaintiffs served their expert reports. Even assuming arguendo that the Defendants thought the Supreme Court's stay in Robinson on June 28, 2022 had changed the legal landscape, surely, they could have filed their motion to stay in the three (3) weeks prior to the deadline for Plaintiffs' expert reports. The timing of the Defendants' request evidences its true aim: to forestall adjudication of Plaintiffs' claims in order to deny Louisiana's Black voters full, unfettered access to their fundamental right to vote.

¹ However, Defendants Clay Schexnayder and Patrick Page Cortez waited three (3) weeks to intervene, ECF No. 13, and the State of Louisiana, through Attorney General Jeff Landry, waited seven (7) weeks to move to intervene, ECF No. 33. Both sets of intervenors waited an additional ten (10) weeks after the Court granted their motion to intervene to file the instant motion. (See ECF No. 42, ECF No. 61.)

The primary prejudice cited by the Defendants—the potential need to relitigate these issues—is speculative and pales in comparison to the inextricable, irreparable harm that Plaintiffs and Black Louisianans will face if the elections for Louisiana's state legislature are conducted under a map that violates Section 2. Indeed, the Defendants' position that it would be a waste of time and resources to apply the law as it exists today is galling: ensuring that the fundamental voting rights of Louisianans are protected by the maps governing the upcoming election of its state legislature is essential, regardless of any future change in governing law.² The Supreme Court's election to review the questions presented in Merrill v. Milligan does not warrant freezing all vote dilution claims arising under the Voting Rights Act.

Additionally, staying this case pending the Supreme Court's consideration of Merrill would significantly prejudice Plaintiffs by impairing this Court's ability to issue effective relief in its wake. The next election for the Louisiana state legislature is slated to take place in November 2023. If the Supreme Court does not issue its decision in Merrill until the end of its upcoming term in June 2023, Plaintiffs would have only a matter of months to conduct discovery, pretrial briefing, and conduct a trial prior to the November election. In order to prevent the Defendants from leveraging the stay they now seek into a future bar on relief under the Purcell principle, it is important that this case proceed on its current trajectory. The Defendants admit that they would likely assert that Purcell bars resolution in time for 2023 election after the decision in Merrill. See ECF No. 61-1 at 8 n.1. The balance of hardship clearly mitigates against staying this case, and the Defendants' motion should be denied.

II. Purcell does not require that the court stay the case.

The Defendants claim, based on the statements of individual justices in concurring and dissenting opinions on a motion to stay in Merrill, that the Supreme Court's decision in Merrill "will inevitably impact this proceeding (and could very well be outcome determinative of the ultimate issue)" and argue that this possible outcome is sufficient to stay proceedings and delay adjudication of Plaintiffs' claims. Mot. ¶ 3. It is not.

There was no majority opinion in the Merrill stay decision, and the basis for the Court's decision remains unknown. However, Justice Kavanaugh, in an opinion which only Justice Alito joined, cited the Purcell principle as a reason to stay Merrill pending a decision by the Supreme Court on the merits of the Section 2 claims at issue there. As an initial matter, a Purcell stay is a stay of relief and is not a tool to stay discovery, let alone a litigation in its entirety. See Merrill, 142 S. Ct. at 879 (Kavanaugh, J., concurring) (Purcell says that "that federal appellate courts should stay injunctions" (emphasis added)). The Purcell principle instructs "that federal district courts ordinarily should not enjoin state election laws in the period close to an election," particularly where the merits are "close" and such changes would impose "significant cost, confusion, or hardship." Id. at 881. In Merrill, the Court held that a stay was appropriate under Purcell because the election was only seven (7) weeks away and "the plaintiffs have not established that [election] changes are feasible without significant cost, confusion, or hardship.” Id. at 881–82.

Similarly, the Supreme Court failed to provide any reasoning for its stay of the preliminary injunction issued in Robinson. However, as Alabama had in Merrill, the State in Robinson argued that the Purcell principle precluded interlocutory relief, and the Supreme Court granted that motion, staying an injunction issued approximately five (5) months prior to the election at issue.

The distinctions between this action and both Merrill and Robinson demonstrate that Purcell does not apply here. First, this case is distinct from both Merrill and Robinson procedurally. Both Merrill and Robinson were stayed only after courts had entered preliminary injunctions. In contrast, no injunction that would require the State to take any action impacting the 2023 election has been issued here, and Plaintiffs have not sought a preliminary injunction in this action. After trial, the court will enter a final judgment on the merits and, based on those findings, may or may not issue a permanent injunction. At that point, Defendants may seek a stay of any such injunction if they believe they have grounds.³

Second, this case is distinct from both Merrill and Robinson with respect to timing. This case was filed a year and half prior to the next state legislative election in October 2023 (as opposed to weeks prior or even a handful of months prior, as in the cases described above). Because of that, discovery will conclude a full year prior to the election and trial is set nearly nine months prior to the election. Accordingly, if Plaintiffs are ultimately successful on the merits of their claims, implementing an injunction would be feasible without undue burden or confusion. Indeed, the State has yet to even set a calendar for the 2023 Legislative elections. See 2023 Elections,

<https://www.sos.la.gov/ElectionsAndVoting/PublishedDocuments/ElectionsCalendar2023.pdf>

(last visited Aug. 3, 2022) (listing the only 2023 available election calendar available for municipal and gubernatorial elections); see also Exhibit A (Secretary of State’s response to Plaintiffs’ Interrogatory No. 12 directing Plaintiffs to the Secretary of State’s website for information on “relevant election dates for the 2023 Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House elections”). It is difficult to see how the adjudication of this case would (or even could) disrupt a calendar that has yet to be set. In fact, the Purcell principle militates in favor of allowing the case to proceed on the current schedule because it allows maximum time for an injunction to be implemented prior to the November 2023 election.

III. The mere possibility of a change in the standard is not a reason to stay the case.

While the Defendants would have this Court stay this litigation based on the mere possibility that the Supreme Court might change the standard applicable to Section 2 vote dilution claims, the Supreme Court has made clear that lower courts are bound by existing precedent. Ramos v. Louisiana, 140 S. Ct. 1390, 1416 n.5 (2020) (Kavanaugh, concurring in part) (“[V]ertical stare decisis is absolute, as it must be in a hierarchical system with ‘one supreme Court.’ In other words, the state courts and the other federal courts have a constitutional obligation to follow a precedent of this Court unless and until it is overruled by this Court.” (citations omitted)). In support of this principle, the Supreme Court has directed courts to refrain from taking it upon themselves to exercise the Supreme Court’s prerogatives. See Agostini v. Felton, 521 U.S. 203, 237 (1997) (“[I]f a precedent of this Court has direct application in a case, yet appears to rest on reasons rejected in some other line of decisions, the [court] should follow the case which directly controls, leaving to this Court the prerogative of overruling its own decisions.” (quoting Rodriguez de Quijas v. Shearson/Am. Express, Inc., 490 U.S. 477, 484 (1989))) (emphasis added); see also U.S. v. Coil, 442 F.3d 912, 916 (5th Cir. 2006) (“The Fifth Circuit has consistently followed the Supreme Court's admonition in Rodriguez de Quijas and Agostini.” (citations omitted)).

Indeed, this Court and others have repeatedly rejected identical requests filed by state defendants across the country on this basis, some before receiving opposition briefing. See Robinson, et al. v. Ardoin, No. 3:22-CV-00211-SDD-SDJ (M.D. La. May 4, 2022), ECF No. 135 (order denying motion to stay proceedings pending Merrill); see also United States v. Galveston County, Texas, et al., No. 3:22-CV-93 (S.D. Tex. May 24, 2022), ECF No. 28 (denying motion to stay proceedings pending Merrill); LULAC v. Abbott, No. 3:21-CV-00259-DCG-JES-JVB (W.D. Tex. April 22, 2022), ECF No. 246 (summary order denying motion to stay case pending Merrill before receipt of opposition briefing); cf. Guardian Techs., LLC v. X10 Wireless Tech., Inc., No. 3:09-CV-0649, 2011 WL 308658, at *2 (N.D. Tex. Jan. 25, 2011) (“Only in rare circumstances will a litigant in one cause be compelled to stand aside while a litigant in another settles the rule of law that will define the rights of both.” (quoting Landis, 299 U.S. at 255)).

There is good reason to follow these courts' lead, given it is completely unknown what the Supreme Court will do in the Merrill decision. The Defendants claim that it would necessarily mean starting the litigation “anew,” but that result is not inevitable. All options are currently open to the Supreme Court, including not changing the standard at all or adjusting parts of the standard that would have no implication on the final result in this case. The fact that the Defendants think the Merrill might be “informative,” ECF No. 61-1 at 9, is not a sufficient reason to stay the case. And the Supreme Court has directed lower courts in the past not to speculate on what may come, but instead to follow existing law. See Agostini, 521 U.S. at 237.

Perhaps because of this, the cases cited by the Defendants do not compel the result they seek. The Defendants rely on Greco v. NFL, 116 F. Supp. 3d 744 (N.D. Tex. 2015) and Wedgeworth v. Fireboard Corp., 706 F.2d 541 (5th Cir. 1983), aff'd in part and vacated in part on other grounds on rehearing, 706 F.2d at 548, for the proposition that “[w]hen a higher court has signaled that it will readdress binding precedent in a pending case, a lower court should exercise its inherent power to stay related proceedings.” (ECF No. 61-1 at 6.) But Wedgeworth does not stand for that principle. Instead, it set out a balancing test that requires consideration of several factors, not an absolute rule that every pending appeal requires an automatic stay of every lower court case involving an overlapping legal issue. Wedgeworth, 706 F.2d at 545.

To the extent it bears on Defendants’ motion at all, Greco bears no resemblance to the facts or circumstances here, and serves only to highlight that this is not a case in which a stay is appropriate. In Greco, two hundred individual plaintiffs asserted damages claims raising “nearly identical factual and legal issues” to a case pending at the Fifth Circuit. 116 F. Supp. 3d at 761. The court determined that conserving the substantial judicial resources that would be required to try 200 individual cases, or even 40 “bell-weather” cases, outweighed the harm to the defendants of awaiting a decision in the related appeal.

In stark contrast, Plaintiffs’ claims are not identical to the claims asserted in Robinson and Merrill, and allowing the instant case to proceed would not conserve the same significant judicial resources at issue in Greco. First, as outlined supra, Merrill and Robinson have both different procedural postures and elections calendars than those at play the instant action. Second, and critically, the redistricting maps at issue are entirely different. In contrast to Robinson, which sought one additional majority-Black congressional district based in Baton Rouge, Plaintiffs in this case challenge state legislative districts throughout the state. Moreover, the state legislative maps were introduced, debated, and adopted separately from the congressional map, and were animated by different policy and political considerations. In other words, even if there is some overlap with the Robinson case, this case will involve different evidence, facts, and legal issues, unlike the two cases at issue in Greco.

The Defendants also cite Landis v. N. Am. Co., a case in which the Supreme Court reversed a lower court stay finding that the lower court had exceeded its discretion in staying one case to allow a parallel case to be tried and appealed to the Circuit and then the Supreme Court. 299 U.S. at 256. But, as stated above, the Supreme Court specifically cautioned in Landis that “[o]nly in rare circumstances will a litigant in one cause be compelled to stand aside while a litigant in another settles the rule of law that will define the rights of both.” Id. at 255.

The Defendants also rely on Miccosukee Tribe of Indians v. S. Fla. Water Mgmt. Dist., which involved the Eleventh Circuit’s ruling upholding a stay imposed by the district court. 559 F.3d 1191, 1198 (11th Cir. 2009). As an initial matter, this case is an out of circuit decision and is not binding on this Court (and is, in fact, in tension with the Fifth Circuit’s balancing test articulated in Wedgeworth). Additionally, Miccosukee was decided on jurisdictional grounds, and did not involve a review of the district court’s stay on its merits. Miccosukee Tribe of Indians, 559 F.3d at 1193 (“The first, and as it turns out, the last issue we need to address is whether we have jurisdiction to review the stay order”). Finally, there was substantially more overlap in the factual predicates for the cases at issue in Miccosukee than there is between the instant matter and Merrill or Robinson. In Miccosukee, the cases at issue involved whether the same type of pumps used by the same defendants had to have a permit under the Clean Water Act, meaning that resolution of one case would dictate the outcome of the other, not just possibly affect the applicable legal principles. Id. at 1198.

The other cases cited by the Defendants are similarly unavailing. Am. Life Ins. Co. v. Stewart, 300 U.S. 203, 215 (1937) (identical parties and issues in an insurance payout case); Labouliere v. Our Lady of the Lake Found., No. 16-00785-JJB-EWD, 2017 WL 4365989 (M.D. La., Sept. 29, 2017) (staying a federal case where the same plaintiffs had asserted the same claim in a state administrative forum); Alford v. Moulder, Cause No. 3:16-CV-350-CWR-LRA, 2016 WL 6088489, at *4 (S.D. Miss. Oct. 17, 2016) (staying a challenge to a religious exemption statute where challenged law had already been enjoined in a related case obviating harm to plaintiff from a stay pending the appeal of the related case); McGregory v. 21st Century Ins. & Fin. Servs., Inc., No. 1:15-cv-98, 2016 WL 11643678, *4 (N.D. Miss. Feb. 2, 2016) (staying the underlying case pending the Supreme Court resolution of a controlling question implicating the court's jurisdiction); Tel. Sci. Corp. v. Asset Recovery Sols., LLC, No. 15 C 5182, 2016 WL 47916 (N.D. Ill. Jan. 5, 2016) (same); Kamal v. J. Crew Grp., Inc., Civil Action No. 15-0190 (WJM), 2015 WL 9480017 (D.N.J. Dec. 29, 2015) (same); White v. J.P. Morgan Chase Bank, N.A., Civ. No. 10-3811, 2011 WL 13213618, *2 (E.D. La. Mar. 15, 2011) (two conflicting Fifth Circuit precedents compelled opposing dispositions of the case, a panel of the Fifth Circuit had recently recognized the conflict, and en banc rehearing had been granted to resolve the conflict).

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court deny the Defendants' motion for stay.

R. KYLE ARDOIN, in his official capacity as
Secretary of State of Louisiana

Defendant.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:22-cv-00178
SDD-SDJ

DEFENDANT’S OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO PLAINTIFFS’ FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Defendant R. Kyle Ardoin (“Defendant”), in his capacity as the Secretary of State of Louisiana, by and through undersigned counsel, and pursuant to Rules 26 and 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, serve his objections and responses to Plaintiffs’ First Set of Interrogatories as follows:

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Defendant makes the following answers, responses, and objections to Plaintiffs’ First Set of Interrogatories of the Secretary of State (“Interrogatories”). Each of the following responses is made subject to any and all objections as to competence, relevance, or other grounds that would require exclusion of such statement if made by a witness present and testifying in court. Any and all such objections and grounds are expressly reserved.

The responses are based on Defendant's present knowledge, information, and belief, as derived from: (a) the knowledge and information of present employees or agents of Defendant gained in their capacity as such, and (b) a review of the documents and materials maintained by Defendant that would be likely to contain the information called for by the Interrogatories. These responses are subject to amendment and supplementation as Defendant acquires additional information. Defendant states that his responses to the Interrogatories were prepared in consultation with his attorneys and may not exactly match the words or phrases that may be used by individuals in the course of this litigation to describe events, policies, and practices discussed herein.

No incidental or implied admissions are intended by these responses. The fact that Defendant responds or objects to any Interrogatories should not be taken as an admission that Defendant accepts or admits the existence of any facts assumed by such Interrogatories or that such Response or objection constitutes admissible evidence as to any such assumed facts. The fact that Defendant responds to part of or all of any interrogatory is not intended to be, and shall not be construed as a waiver by Defendant of any part of any objection to any interrogatory. Defendant will respond to Plaintiffs' Interrogatories in accordance with Rules 26 and 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and will not provide responses or documents to the extent such responses or production would exceed the requirements of those Rules.

Since the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure prohibit discovery of privileged matters, Defendant has interpreted each Interrogatory to call for discoverable matter only. To the extent any response or produced document contains or refers to matters otherwise protected from discovery by the work product doctrine, the attorney-client privilege, or any other applicable privilege, no waiver is intended, nor is any waiver intended as to any other matters that are or may be subject to such protection or otherwise privileged.

Defendant also objects that none of these Interrogatories are limited to the relevant time frame in this action. Particularly, as Defendant is sued in his official capacity as Secretary of State of Louisiana, these Interrogatories as written, call for Defendant to review records pertaining to all redistricting for his office going back decades. Because of this, all Interrogatories, as written, are unduly burdensome, and unlikely to lead to the discovery of relevant admissible evidence. As such, in his responses, Defendant has interpreted these Interrogatories to only seek information pertaining to the 2021/2022 legislative redistricting cycle.

These responses are provided solely for the purpose of and in relation to this action.

OBJECTIONS TO DEFINITIONS

1. Defendant objects to the term “PREDECESSOR MAPS” as overly broad, unduly burdensome and not proportionate to the needs of this case as it seeks information that Defendant has no personal knowledge of for an unreasonable period of time. Defendant further objects to the definition of “PREDECESSOR MAPS” in that it seeks documents or information not within his personal knowledge, or outside of his possession, custody, or control. Defendant has interpreted these Interrogatories to only seek information pertaining to the 2021/2022 legislative redistricting cycle.

2. Defendant objects to the term “RACIALLY POLARIZED” as it purports to set forth a legal conclusion. Defendant further objects to the definition of “RACIALLY POLARIZED” to the extent seeks information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege.

3. Defendant objects to the definition of “SECTION 5” or “PRECLEARANCE” as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportionate to the needs of the case as Section 5 preclearance is not required. Defendant further objects to the definition to the extent that it seeks to purport a legal conclusion.

4. Defendant objects to the definition of “THIRD PARTIES” to the extent that it seeks information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege.

OBJECTION TO INSTRUCTIONS

1. Defendant objects to each and every “instruction” to the extent that it is inconsistent or goes beyond Defendant’s obligations under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules for the Middle District of Louisiana, and the Parties’ ESI Agreement.

INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1

Identify all persons in Your office(s) involved in any evaluation, compilation, collection of data, estimate, report, study, or analysis concerning voting patterns, habits, behavior, demographic trends, or practices by race or ethnicity in Louisiana created or dated from January 1, 2022 to the present.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous as to “habits,” “behavior,” and “practices.” Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects that this Interrogatory is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportionate to the needs of the case because it seeks any and all reports and studies that involve Louisiana voters’ race or ethnicity without regards to any election or particular districting map.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant's understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds that this information is contained in ERIN and that the reports which are being produced through Request 8 speak for themselves.

Identify each person, other than a person intended to be called as an expert witness at trial, having discoverable information that tends to refute or support any position that You have taken or intend to take in this action, and state the subject matter of the information possessed by that person.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that this request is overly broad and unduly burdensome in that it requires Defendant to speculate to other persons' knowledge that Defendant may not have access to. Defendant also objects that "discoverable information" is vague and ambiguous, as it is undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is duplicative of Defendant's initial disclosures.

Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objections, and consistent with his understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant refers Plaintiffs to Defendant's Initial Disclosures, served on June 16, 2022.

Identify each of the Black candidates elected to serve in the Louisiana State Senate since January 1, 1980 to the present, including their names, positions, dates of election, and the demographics of the district from which they were elected.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of this case as it seeks information for State Senate districts for over forty years, which is an unreasonable period of time. Defendant further objects that “demographics” is vague and ambiguous, and that Defendant is unable to ascertain the specific meaning, as the term is undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Upon clarification of the term “demographics” Defendant will supplement this response with information, to the extent such information is within his custody or control, for a reasonable time frame.

Identify each of the Black candidates elected to serve in the Louisiana House of Representatives since January 1, 1980 to the present, including their names, positions, dates of election, and the demographics of the district from which they were elected.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory as overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of this case as it seeks information for State Senate districts for over forty years, which is an unreasonable period of time. Defendant further objects that “demographics” is vague and ambiguous, and that Defendant is unable to ascertain the specific meaning, as the term is undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Upon clarification of the term “demographics” Defendant will supplement this response with information, to the extent such information is within his custody or control, for a reasonable time frame.

INTERROGATORY NO. 5

Please describe any involvement anyone in Your office had in providing advice, considering, creating, developing, drafting, and proposing the maps adopted in S.B. 1, H.B. 14, and all Predecessor Maps.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, as well as Interrogatory 1, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory as it is vague and ambiguous as to “involvement,” “advice,” “considering,” “creating,” “developing,” “drafting,” and “proposing,” which are subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Additionally, Defendant objects to the extent this Interrogatory seeks information regarding legislative districts which are not at issue in this case. Therefore, Defendant’s response is limited to the maps adopted in S.B. 1 and H.B. 14.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant’s understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6

Please provide the name and contact information of anyone in Your office had in providing advice, considering, creating, developing, drafting, and proposing the maps adopted in S.B. 1, H.B. 14, and all Predecessor Maps.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, as well as Interrogatories 1 and 5, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory as it is vague and ambiguous as to “involvement,” “advice,” “considering,” “creating,” “developing,” “drafting,” and “proposing,” which are subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory seeks information regarding drawing of legislative districts which are not at issue in this case. Therefore, Defendant's response is limited to the maps adopted in S.B. 1 and H.B. 14.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7

Please describe whether and how anyone in Your office was provided any the maps or amendments for Louisiana Senate or Louisiana House districts maps prior to the adoption of S.B. 1, H.B. 14.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, and Interrogatories 5 and 6, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to the extent that this Interrogatory seeks information not within his personal knowledge, and outside of his possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant's understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 8

Please identify the name, title, and, if known, address of each person in Your office who was provided with any of maps or amendment for Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House districts prior to the adoption of S.B. 1 or H.B. 14.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, and Interrogatories 5, 6, and 7, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to the extent that this Interrogatory seeks information not within his personal knowledge, and outside of his possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant's understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 9

Please identify the name, title, and, if known, address of each person who shared with You any proposed maps or amendments to maps for the Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House prior to the adoption in S.B. 1, H.B. 14, or any Predecessor Maps.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, and Interrogatories 5, 6, 7, and 8, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to the extent that this Interrogatory seeks information not within his personal knowledge, and outside of his possession, custody, or control. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory seeks information regarding legislative districts which are not at issue in this case. Therefore, Defendant's response is limited to the maps adopted in S.B. 1 and H.B. 14.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant's understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 10 Identify whether You are aware of any analysis conducted which included race, ethnicity or class in the drawing of the Louisiana Senate or Louisiana House districts and identify the person who conducted it prior to the adoption of S.B. 1 or H.B. 14.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects that this Interrogatory is duplicative of Requests 1, 2, 3, and 5, and Interrogatories 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9, and is therefore unduly burdensome to answer. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to the extent that this Interrogatory seeks information not within his personal knowledge, and outside of his possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with Defendant's understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds: None.

Describe the process by which the race category is completed when new individuals are added as voters to the Elections Registration and Information Network (ERIN system) or the statewide voter registration computer system, including but not limited, to how the race category is completed when new voters are added to the ERIN system when they respond to the race category on the voter registration application by selecting more than one option.

The Louisiana voter registration form asks voters to select from among the following races categories: White, Black, Asian, Hispanic, American Indian or Other. But the race categories provided on the voter registration lists provided to the general public pursuant to Title 31, Chapter 1, §105. Sale of Voter Registration Lists only includes White, Black and Other. Please describe the relationship between the race category selected by a voter when registering to vote and the race category provided to the public with these voter registration lists and how those considerations reflected the drawing of the districts.

RESPONSE: Defendant object to this Interrogatory as duplicative of Request 16. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory as unduly burdensome and confusing as it appears to contain two or more separate interrogatories, and is otherwise inconsistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Additionally, Defendant objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory requires Defendant to ascertain the intent of individual voters when selecting among races when registering to vote. Such information is not within Defendants' personal knowledge, and outside of his possession, custody, or control.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendant states that the Parish Registrar of Voters is responsible for the tasks asked about in this Interrogatory.

INTERROGATORY NO. 12

Identify any relevant election dates for the 2023 Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House elections and describe their importance to the election calendar.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory as duplicative of Request 15. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous as to "relevant" and "importance," which are undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects to the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Additionally, Defendant objects on the grounds that this Interrogatory is overly broad and unduly burdensome, especially since much of this information is publicly available on the Louisiana Secretary of State's Website.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with his understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds that the documents which are being produced through Request 15 speak for themselves.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13

Identify any processes that your office undertakes prior to 2023 Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House elections to help in the administration of those elections.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory as duplicative of Request 15 and Interrogatory 12. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous as to “processes,” which is undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects on the grounds that this Interrogatory is overly broad and unduly burdensome, especially since much of this information is publicly available on the Louisiana Secretary of State’s Website.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with his understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds that the documents which are being produced through Request 15 speak for themselves.

INTERROGATORY NO. 14

Identify and describe which election administration functions are conducted by Your office and identify which other government offices or entities conduct the other administrative functions for the 2023 Louisiana Senate and Louisiana House elections.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory as duplicative of Request 15 and Interrogatories 12 and 13. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous as to “functions,” “other government offices or entities,” and “other administrative functions,” which are undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects on the grounds that this Interrogatory is overly broad and unduly burdensome, especially since much of this information is publicly available on the Louisiana Secretary of State’s Website.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with his understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds that the documents which are being produced through Request 15 speak for themselves.

INTERROGATORY NO. 15

Identify the name, title, and professional address of each person consulted by You in answering these Interrogatories, specifying on which Interrogatory or Interrogatories such person was consulted.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory on the grounds that it is vague and ambiguous as to “consulted,” which is undefined and subject to multiple meanings. Defendant further objects the extent this Interrogatory calls for information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, and consistent with his understanding of this Interrogatory, Defendant responds that Sherri Hadskey assisted in responding to these interrogatories in consultation with legal counsel.

Describe why You should succeed on the defenses asserted in Your Answer.

RESPONSE: Defendant objects to this Interrogatory to the extent it seeks information covered by the attorney-client, work product, or any other applicable privilege. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory to the extent that it seeks information beyond his personal knowledge. Defendant also objects to this Interrogatory to the extent it seeks a legal opinion or improper lay witness testimony.

Subject to and without waiving these objections, Defendant states that his Answer speaks for itself.

This the 18th day of July, 2022.
