v.

United States Election Integrity Plan,

FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER

1. DATE AND APPEARANCES

The parties, by and through their undersigned counsel, submit the following Proposed Final Pretrial Order on this 15th day of May, 2023. The Final Pretrial Conference was held on May 12, 2023.

2. JURISDICTION

This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1343 because this action arises under Section 11(b) of the Voting Rights Acts of 1965, 52 U.S.C. § 10307(b) and the Ku Klux Klan Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1985. This Court has the authority to issue declaratory and injunctive relief under 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202.

3. CLAIMS AND DEFENSES

Plaintiffs

Plaintiffs Colorado Montana Wyoming State Area Conference of the NAACP (“NAACP Colorado”), League of Women Voters of Colorado (“LWVCO”), and Mi Familia Vota (“MFV”) (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) brought this action for damages and injunctive relief against Defendants United States Election Integrity Plan (“USEIP”) and three of its founding members—Shawn Smith, Ashley Epp, and Holly Kasun—alleging that Defendants have intimidated or attempted to intimidate voters in violation of the Section 11(b) of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, 52 U.S.C. § 10307(b), and the Ku Klux Klan Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1985. Defendant USEIP was dismissed from this action on the grounds it is an unincorporated association and cannot be sued. (See Doc. 84). The Court, however, held that the claims against Defendants Shawn Smith, Ashley Epp, and Holly Kasun (the “Individual Defendants”) could proceed. (See id.)

Plaintiffs allege, and the evidence presented to date has borne out, that the Individual Defendants—both individually and by and through USEIP—have violated both the Voting Rights Act and Ku Klux Klan Act by engaging in a coordinated campaign of voter intimidation and harassment. More specifically, Plaintiffs have presented and will present evidence at trial that the Individual Defendants have made threatening and intimidating public statements, such as Defendant Smith’s public exclamations that anyone involved in election fraud “deserves to hang,” and have coordinated USEIP’s door-to-door canvassing efforts in attempt to and in a manner that, in fact, intimidated Colorado Voters. In the course of discovery, Plaintiffs uncovered evidence demonstrating that USEIP and its members knocked on over 9,000 doors across Colorado and, in doing so, carried and potentially brandished firearms, took photographs of voters' home, and represented or implied to voters that they were associated with the government. The Individual Defendants were each intimately involved in coordination efforts for USEIP.

Plaintiffs seek an Order from the Court: (a) declaring that the door-to-door voter intimidation campaign organized by the Individual Defendants constitutes unlawful voter intimidation in violation of Section 11(b) of the Voting Rights Act and the Ku Klux Klan Act; (b) ordering the Individual Defendants to cease and desist from coordinating and organizing visits to voters homes in order to questions voters or household members about mail-in ballots, alleged voters fraud, or otherwise intimidate voters from voting (including by mail); (c) ordering the Individual Defendants to cease and desist from taking photographs of voters' residences or vehicles, instructing or encouraging anyone to take photographs of voters' residences or vehicles, and maintaining databases of voters' residences or their vehicles, and to submit an affidavit to the Court attesting to their deletion of the same; (d) ordering the Individual Defendants to cease and desist from instructing or encouraging anyone to carry weapons during interactions with voters; and (e) ordering the Individual Defendants not to engage in other actions that threaten voters for having voters in past election or intimidate voters from voting in future elections. Plaintiffs also seek an award of their attorneys' fees and costs.

Defendants

Defendants deny any liability for the factual scenario that led to the filing of this case and further deny that they have intimidated, coerced, or threatened any Colorado voter as alleged by Plaintiffs. To carry their burden on counts 1 and 2 under 52 U.S.C.

§ 10307(b), Plaintiffs must prove that Defendants acted or attempted to intimidate, threaten or coerce a person for voting or attempting to vote. To carry their burden on count 3 under 42 U.S.C. § 1985(3), Plaintiffs must prove that Defendants (1) conspired, (2) the purpose of which was to force, intimidate, or threaten, (3) an individual legally entitled to vote who is engaging in a lawful activity related to voting in federal elections. Plaintiffs are unable to meet their burden for any of their claims. Plaintiffs have not identified a single Colorado voter, much less a member of the Plaintiff organizations, who claims that the Defendants intimidated, threatened, or coerced them in relation to a voting related activity. Likewise, Plaintiffs cannot demonstrate that Defendants conspired with the purpose of forcing, intimidating, or threatening another person engaged in voting related activities.

Through discovery, Plaintiffs were unable to present a single documented complaint identifying Defendants Shawn Smith, Ashley Epp, or Holly Kasun as a canvasser, or any allegations that these individual Defendants intimidated or threatened a voter. Furthermore, Defendant Holly Kasun did not participate in USEIP canvassing which Plaintiffs allege gives rise to the factual allegations in their Complaint. Likewise, Plaintiffs have not produced evidence that a voter has come into personal contact with the individual Defendants, nor have Plaintiffs identified the Defendants as canvassers in the county where their sole witness, Yvette Roberts, resides.

Defendants deny that through USEIP canvassing efforts, Colorado voters were intimidated, threatened, or coerced. Defendants further deny that they attempted to intimidate, threaten or coerce voters. Rather, Defendants received overwhelming positive feedback from any voter contacted during the canvassing efforts. Further, Defendants will demonstrate that all contact with Colorado voters complied with Colorado and Federal laws.

Plaintiffs' description of Defendant Shawn Smith's public statement that "anyone involved in election fraud deserves to hang" is taken out of context and misrepresents the nature of his statement. The statement upon which Plaintiff relies has been taken out of context because it was abbreviated, and when considered in full, does not evidence an intent to intimidate, or to coordinate or conspire with others to deny the vote to anyone; nor when read in full would the statement have the effect of intimidating a voter.

Defendants further deny that they brandished weapons during canvassing, and Defendants deny that USEIP volunteers were instructed to or encouraged to carry firearms during their canvassing efforts. Plaintiffs have produced no evidence to support these claims. Defendants likewise deny that they identified themselves or insinuated that they were associated with any governmental entity. Rather, Defendants' own training materials specifically caution against a volunteer canvasser misidentifying themselves in any manner. Defendants deny that USEIP canvassing efforts were designed to target any specific voter group, particular residences, or aimed to single out any particular voter or voters.

Finally, Plaintiffs impute liability to Defendants for the actions of third parties who are not parties to this lawsuit. Plaintiffs arrive at the conclusion that based upon the individual Defendants' coordination of canvassing, alleging that voters were intimidated or threatened by other USEIP volunteers. Plaintiffs cannot show that Defendants condoned, intended, or encouraged volunteers to engage in unlawful voter intimidation. In fact, Defendants have, and will, demonstrate that they defined, planned, and conducted their canvassing activities for Constitutionally protected purposes, in a courteous and neighborly manner. Defendants took all reasonable steps to ensure that the canvassing efforts through USEIP volunteers did not intimidate, threaten, or coerce voters. Likewise, to the extent Plaintiffs attempt to impute liability to the individual Defendants for the actions of third parties, “the doctrine of vicarious liability or respondeat superior has been ruled out in cases arising under the Federal Civil Rights statutes.” Draeger v. Grand Central, Inc., 507 F.2d 142, 145 (10th Cir. 1974).

In addition, Defendants affirmatively state that (1) Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted; (2) Plaintiffs lack standing to sue on behalf of their members, none of whom have been identified as claiming voter intimidation; (3) Plaintiffs suffered no damage as a result of any of the alleged actions of Defendants; (4) Plaintiffs’ claims are barred to the extent that they violate Defendants’ Constitutional rights; and (5) Plaintiffs’ claims are barred because any alleged injury to Plaintiffs is the proximate cause of the acts or omission of independent third parties over which Defendants exercised no control.
