1 I. The Plaintiffs have standing.

2 “At this very preliminary stage” in which the Plaintiffs are seeking a Temporary Re-3 straining Order and Preliminary Injunction, they “may rely on the allegations in their Com-4 plaint and whatever other evidence they submitted in support of their preliminary-injunction 5 motion to meet their burden,” “[a]nd they need only establish a risk or threat of injury to 6 satisfy the actual injury requirement.” City & Cnty. of San Francisco v. United States Citizenship &
7 Immigr. Servs., 944 F.3d 773, 787 (9th Cir. 2019) (cleaned up).

8 Under that standard, the Plaintiffs have demonstrated that they have standing.

9 A. EZAZ.org has organizational standing.

10 The Defendants’ failure to conduct statutorily required list maintenance directly harms 11 EZAZ.org’s already-existing core activities. See, e.g., Ariz. All. for Retired Americans v. Mayes, --- 12 F.4th ---, 2024 WL 4246721, at *8 (9th Cir. Sept. 20, 2024) (“AARA”).

13 In AARA, the Ninth Circuit clarified that the organizational standing requirement 14 under Food & Drug Admin. v. All. for Hippocratic Medicine (“Hippocratic Medicine”) 602 U.S. 367 15 (2024)) requires the organization to “show that a challenged governmental action directly 16 injures the organization’s pre-existing core activities and does so apart from the plaintiffs’ 17 response to that governmental action.” AARA, at *2. The Plaintiffs did just that.

18 Specifically, as delineated in Plaintiffs’ TRO/PI Motion, an already existing core ac-19 tivity for EZAZ.org is conducting voter outreach. Doc. 57, at 18 and Ex. A, ¶ 12. The De-20 fendants’ failure to remove ineligible voters causes the organization to expend resources not 21 only to reach out to ineligible voters but also to notify the counties to initiate cancellation 22 procedures. Id., Ex. A., ¶¶ 12, 13. Further, part of EZAZ.org’s core activities is conducting 23 voter education to make civic action “as easy as pie.” Id. Ex. A., ¶ 9. However, because of 24 increasing concerns among voters about foreign citizens voting, a considerable amount of 25 resources for voter education is now being diverted to responding to these issues caused not 26 only by the Defendants’ failure to conduct, but also their vocal opposition to conducting, their statutory duties of investigating Federal-Only voters and removing foreign citizens from voter rolls. Id. Ex. A, ¶ 15.

1 The Plaintiffs detailed six different ways in which EZAZ.org is suffering concrete and 2 particularized harms and how the Defendants' failure to act in accordance with the law di-3 rectly impacts EZAZ.org's ability to carry out its existing core activities. Id. at 18-19. All of 4 those harms are to EZAZ.org's pre-existing activities, and the Defendants never explain how 5 it could be otherwise.

6 Rather, the Defendants¹ make the bare and unsupported assertion that EZAZ.org has 7 been "expending resources in response to the list maintenance practices regarding Federal-8 Only Voters." ECF No. 48 at 4. However, the Defendants never even attempt actually to 9 quote from or directly refute the actual standing evidence presented in the TRO/PI Motion.
10 They do not because they cannot. The Plaintiffs' evidence clearly demonstrates that the De-11 fendants' conduct has harmed EZAZ.org's pre-existing core activities.

12 For example, the Defendants never dispute EZAZ.org's allegation that its personnel 13 conduct door-knocking campaigns and voter education efforts apart from anything to do with 14 voter list maintenance and that the Defendants' conduct as outlined in the FAC harm those 15 pre-existing door-knocking and voter education efforts. (See ECF No. 57 at 18:10-18:26; id.
16 at 39-40, Ex. A ¶¶ 12-15.) Nor do the Defendants attempt to refute EZAZ.org's allegations 17 that its failure to engage in proper voter list maintenance has harmed EZAZ.org's ability to 18 recruit volunteers. (See id. at 18:16-19:3; id. at 40, Ex. A ¶ 16.) Nor do the Defendants attempt 19 to refute EZAZ.org's contention that, since its founding in 2018, it has been deeply engaged 20 in the issue of Federal-Only Voters, that this engagement has always included outreach to, 21 and education of, State legislators about the topic, and that the Defendants failure to conduct 22 proper list maintenance has forced EZAZ.org to expend additional resources engaging in this 23 pre-existing organizational focus. (See id. at 19:3-19:9; id. at 40, Ex. A ¶¶ 17-19.) Nor do the 24 Defendants attempt to refute EZAZ.org's contention that the Defendants' failure to conduct 25 proper list maintenance recently has caused the number of Federal-Only Voters to increase 26

1 at unprecedented rates, which has required EZAZ.org to devote additional resources to mon-2 itoring this issue or pre-existing focus. (See id. at 19:9-19:19; id. at 40-41, Ex. A ¶¶ 20-21.) Nor 3 do the Defendants attempt to refute that their failures to conduct proper list maintenance 4 has caused EZAZ.org to expend additional resources in its pre-existing mission of encourag-5 ing discouraged eligible voters to cast a ballot. (See id. at 19:19-19:23; id. at 39, Ex. A ¶¶ 12-6 13.)

7 EZAZ.org, therefore, satisfies the requirements for standing articulated in Hippocratic 8 Medicine as clarified in AARA.

9 B. EZAZ.org has representational standing.

10 EZAZ.org also has representational standing. A substantial number of members are 11 spread throughout the State of Arizona. ECF No. 57, Ex. A ¶¶ 8-11. The Defendants never 12 refuted the Plaintiffs’ argument that there was a clear “risk that one or more of [EZAZ.org’s 13 members] will be subject to enforcement by Defendants” (Id. at 17-18), which are engaging 14 in the non-uniform and discriminatory practice of submitting to DHS verification requests 15 about the immigration status of Federal-Only Voters who have an alien number, but not for 16 other Federal-Only Voters who lack one (who would be either natural born citizens or un-17 lawfully present aliens). “[T]o demonstrate representational standing, an organization is not 18 required to identify of any member who is or will be injured ‘where it is relatively clear, rather 19 than merely speculative, that one or more members have been or will be adversely affected 20 by a defendant’s action.’” Mi Familia Vota v. Fontes, No. CV-22-00509-PHX-SRB, 2024 WL 21 862406, at *32 (D. Ariz. Feb. 29, 2024) (quoting Nat’l Council of La Raza v. Cegavske, 800 F.3d 22 1032, 1041 (9th Cir. 2015)) (cleaned up).

23 C. The Plaintiffs have plausibly alleged that foreigners are registering.

24 While the Plaintiffs’ Motion has been pending, definitive evidence has emerged that 25 foreign citizens are registered to vote in Arizona and that their presence on the voter rolls is 26 because of the improper list maintenance actions of public officials in the State.

1 The Defendants' contention that it is conjectural that there are foreign citizens regis-
2 tered to vote is particularly puzzling, as Maricopa County Recorder Stephen Richer ("Re-3 corder Richer") himself recently admitted exactly the opposite in court. Specifically, on Sep-
4 tember 17, 2024, Recorder Richer filed an Emergency Petition for Special Action in the Ari-5 zona Supreme Court seeking an order forcing that the voter registration of tens of thousands 6 of individuals be switched from being listed as full-ballot voters to Federal-Only Voters.
7 Emergency Petition for Special Action, Richer v. Fontes, CV-24-0221 (Ariz. Sup. Ct.) (Sept. 17, 8 2024), <https://perma.cc/22AZ-LH2K>. As part of that Special Action, Recorder Richer sub-9 mitted together with Arizona Secretary of State Adrian Fontes ("Secretary Fontes") a Joint 10 Stipulation of Facts ("JSOF") admitting that on about September 6, 2024, Recorder Richer 11 had identified a flaw in the system that had allowed tens of thousands of individuals to register 12 to vote even though they had not provided proof of citizenship. JSOF, Richer v. Fontes, CV-13 24-0221 (Ariz. Sup. Ct.) (Sept. 18, 2024). ¶¶ 14-15. <https://perma.cc/27GQ-NWGZ>.

14 More importantly, Recorder Richer admits in the JSOF that the flaw was discovered 15 when his office identified an individual registered to vote as a full-ballot voter even though 16 that individual "is not a United States citizen." Id. Secretary Fontes has since admitted that 17 this failure allowed over 218,000 individuals to register to vote without providing documen-18 tary proof of citizenship, as required by law. Arizona Voter Data Coding Oversight Updated, 19 AZSOS, (Sep. 30, 2024), <https://perma.cc/N6NF-SED6>.

20 Recorder Richer has, therefore, already admitted in another proceeding that at least 21 one foreign citizen had been registered for years without being detected. Issue preclusion, or 22 "collateral estoppel applies to a question, issue, or fact when four conditions are met: (1) the 23 issue at stake was identical in both proceedings; (2) the issue was actually litigated and decided 24 in the prior proceedings; (3) there was a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue; and (4) 25 the issue was necessary to decide the merits." Oyeniran v. Holder, 672 F.3d 800, 806 (9th Cir.
26 2012). All four conditoinis are met here.

1 For issue preclusion to apply when there is not mutuality between the parties in the 2 prior and current actions, the party seeking non-mutual issue preclusion must also show that 3 its application would not be unfair. Parklane Hosiery Co., 439 U.S. 322, 330–331(1979). There 4 is no unfairness here because Recorder Richer affirmatively admitted to this fact.

5 Recorder Richer, therefore, is precluded from arguing here that foreign citizens are 6 not registered to vote in Arizona.

7 Furthermore, the Plaintiffs cited polling data showing that just over three percent of 8 likely Arizona voters disclaimed U.S. citizenship. ECF. No. 57 at 1, 7. This data went com-9 pletely un rebutted by the Defendants.

10 D. The Plaintiffs’ claims are redressable.

11 In the redressability inquiry, courts “assume that the plaintiff’s claim has legal merit.”
12 Shulman v. Kaplan, 58 F.4th 404, 409 (9th Cir. 2023) (quoting M.S. v. Brown, 902 F.3d 1076, 13 1083 (9th Cir. 2018)) (cleaned up). “Redress need not be guaranteed,” so long as it is not 14 “merely speculative.” Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. Bernhardt, 592 F. Supp. 3d 845, 854 (D. Ariz.
15 2022) (quoting Juliana v. United States, 947 F.3d 1159, 1170 (9th Cir. 2020))

16 The Defendants claim that the Plaintiffs’ claims are not redressable because, in their 17 view, the Plaintiffs’ claimed relief depends on the actions of third parties: DHS and the Ari-18 zona Attorney General.

19 However, relief that relies on the actions of third parties only causes a redressability 20 problem if that relief depends on the “unfettered choices made by independent actors not be-21 fore the courts.” Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. Bernhardt, 592 F. Supp. 3d 845, 855 (D. Ariz.
22 2022) (quoting Lujan v. Defs. of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 562 (1992)) (emphasis added). Here, the 23 discretion of both DHS and the Arizona Attorney General is not “unfettered.” Indeed, it is 24 carefully circumscribed by mandatory duties imposed by statute.

25 The Defendants essentially ask this Court to assume that DHS and the Arizona At-26 torney General will disobey mandatory commands of federal statutes. But, this Court is required to presume the opposite. Under binding Ninth Circuit precedent, courts “presume that agencies will follow the law.” Pit River Tribe v. U.S. Forest Serv., 615 F.3d 1069, 1082 (9th Cir.

1 2010) (citing N. Cheyenne Tribe v. Hodel, 851 F.2d 1152, 1157 (9th Cir.1988)); see also, F.C.C. v.
2 Schreiber, 381 U.S. 279, 296 (1965) (acknowledging “the presumption ...that [administrative 3 agencies] will act properly and according to law”); In re Hergenroeder, 555 F.2d 686, 686 (9th 4 Cir. 1977) (acknowledging “the presumption that the government obeys the law”); WildEarth
5 Guardians v. Conner, 920 F.3d 1245, 1261 (10th Cir. 2019) (“We generally presume that gov-6 ernment agencies comply with the law....” (citing N. Cheyenne Tribe v. Hodel, 851 F.2d at 1157)

7 Here, the relevant federal statutes impose an absolute mandatory obligation on DHS 8 that is not limited to inquiries only submitted through SAVE or that contain an alien number:
9 DHS “shall respond to an inquiry” about “any individual within the jurisdiction of the agency.”
10 8 U.S.C. § 1373(c) (emphasis added). DHS must respond to inquiries about any individual—11 not just individuals possessing an alien number.

12 Similarly, Arizona law requires that “[t]he attorney general shall use all available re-13 sources to verify the citizenship status of the applicant.” A.R.S. § 16-143(B).

14 II. The Plaintiffs sent the required NVRA notice letter.

15 Arizona law specifically delineates that county recorders have responsibility for perform-16 ing list maintenance functions necessitated by the NVRA’s requirement that election officials 17 remove ineligible voters. See A.R.S. 16-165(A), (B), (C), (H), (I), (J), (K), (L). Further, where 18 the Secretary of State has been specifically tasked with obtaining bulk information, the infor-19 mation is forwarded to the recorders for processing. See A.R.S. 16-165 (D), (E), (F), (G).
20 Critically, all of the provisions at issue here relate specifically to the Defendant counties’ stat-21 utory responsibilities. ECF No. 57, 4-5 (alleging violations of A.R.S. 16-165(I), (H), (J), (K), 22 as well as 16-121.01(D), requiring the County Recorder (not Secretary of State) to consult a 23 variety of databases). Where election officials other than state officials have been statutorily 24 tasked with specific list maintenance functions, county and local officials have been found to 25 be the proper party in an NVRA suit and the proper party to whom the NVRA notice letter 26 should be sent. See, i.e., Voter Integrity Project NC, Inc. v. Wake Cnty. Bd. of Elections (hereinafter “Voter Integrity”), 301 F. Supp. 3d 612, 615–18 (E.D.N.C. 2017) (holding that county was the proper party in the NVRA suit and that the notice letter sent to county officials satisfied the

1 NVRA pre-suit notice requirement); see also Am. C.R. Union v. Philadelphia City Commissioners, 2 No. CV 16-1507, 2016 WL 4721118, at *4 (E.D. Pa. Sept. 9, 2016), aff'd, 872 F.3d 175 (3d 3 Cir. 2017) (holding that NVRA notice letter sent to city election officials was sufficient under 4 the requirements of the NVRA)

5 The Defendants are incorrect to argue that an NVRA notice letter must be sent to the 6 Secretary of State. In Voter Integrity, the plaintiff sued the Wake County Board of Elections
7 (WCBOE), alleging violations of the NVRA. WCBOE argued that it was not a proper party
8 to the case and that the NVRA notice letter it had received was defective because North 9 Carolina state law charged the North Carolina State Board of Elections, and not the WCBOE, 10 with “adopting a program to comply with the NVRA’s list maintenance requirement” similar 11 to Arizona’s designation of the Secretary of State as the “chief elections officer.” 301 F.Supp.
12 3d at 615. However, the court found that because the county board of elections had “explicit 13 list maintenance obligations” and because the NVRA also contemplates local government 14 involvement in carrying out the State’s obligations (see 52 U.S.C. 20501(a)(2)), the county was 15 a proper party and that the notice letter sent to it by the plaintiffs fulfilled the NVRA’s notice 16 requirements. See also Bellitto v. Snipes, 935 F.3d 1192, 1196 (11th Cir. 2019) (describing with 17 approval plaintiffs’ transmission of NVRA notice letter related to violations by county to 18 county official in charge of election); see also Am. C.R. Union v. Martinez-Rivera, 166 F. Supp.
19 3d 779, 794–95 (W.D. Tex. 2015) (holding that letter to county tax assessor-collector com-20 plied with NVRA’s notice requirements).

21 Furthermore, there was nothing defective about the form of the Plaintiffs’ letter to 22 the Defendants. NVRA letters sent pursuant to 52 U.S.C. § 20510 do not need to specifically 23 invoke the NVRA or identify precisely how the specified conduct violates the NVRA, so long 24 as the letter identifies specific wrongful conduct. The statutory language of 52 U.S.C. § 25 20510(b)(1) provides that “a person who is aggrieved by a violation of this chapter may pro-26 vide written notice of the violation to the chief election official of the State involved.” The statute’s plain language only requires notification of the violation that is occurring. It does

1 not require that the notice detail the exact nature of how that conduct violates the NVRA. In 2 other words, the NVRA only requires a notice of the specific conduct that is objectionable, 3 not a legal analysis of how that conduct violates the NVRA. This interpretation of the 4 NVRA's notice provision makes sense, as its overarching purpose is to allow the alleged vio-5 lator an opportunity to correct the issue, which can be effectively communicated without 6 detailed legal citations to the NVRA's requirements.

7 Similarly, the NVRA only requires "written notice of a violation," not a detailed anal-8 ysis of the NVRA's requirements or a statement of the specific claims that a plaintiff plans to 9 assert if the violation is not remedied. The violation at issue in this case is the Defendants' 10 failure to submit 1373/1644 Requests. The letters to the Defendants invoked the NVRA and 11 provided notice to the Defendants of their unlawful failure to submit 1373/1644 Requests.
12 That is sufficient under the NVRA's notice requirements.

13 The Plaintiffs were unable to find any cases that impose a specificity requirement of 14 the type that the Defendants demand here. Most tellingly, the Defendants failed to cite a 15 single case to support the specificity requirement that they attempt to read into the NVRA.

16 Assuming, arguendo, that specific language in an NVRA notice letter is required, any 17 such omission in the Plaintiffs' letter is harmless error because there are now fewer than 30 18 days before the election. The NVRA does not require pre-suit notice if a "violation occurred 19 within 30 days before the date of an election for Federal office." 52 U.S.C. § 20510(b)(3). The 20 violations alleged in the FAC are ongoing and continue to the present moment. Thus, if this 21 case were dismissed because of a failure to conform to the NVRA's notice requirements, the 22 Plaintiffs could refile their case that same day and avoid the notice requirement entirely. It, 23 therefore, would be nonsensical and a waste of both judicial and litigant resources to deny 24 relief to the Plaintiffs because of any perceived defect in their letters to the Defendants.

25 Finally, Cahill's failure to send her own NVRA letter is irrelevant. Where one plaintiff 26 has already sent a notice that was ignored, other "plaintiffs are not barred for failing to file

1 notice.” Ass'n of Cmty. Organizations for Reform Now v. Miller, 912 F. Supp. 976, 983 (W.D. Mich.
2 1995), aff'd, 129 F.3d 833 (6th Cir. 1997).

3 III. The Plaintiffs’ claims are timely.

4 The Plaintiffs’ claims are timely, and laches is not available to the Defendants here. In 5 cases involving elections, the Ninth Circuit has held that laches did not apply even when the 6 Plaintiffs had waited many years to seek relief. In Garza v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, the county 7 defendant argued that “the plaintiffs’ claim for redistricting relief [was] barred on the ground 8 of laches” because it would cause “substantial hardship” to the county and because “the 9 plaintiffs had no excuse for their delay in bringing suit.” 918 F.2d 763, 772 (9th Cir. 1990).
10 The Ninth Circuit rejected this argument “[b]ecause of the ongoing nature of the violation” 11 and because the problem “ha[d] been getting progressively worse.” Id.; see also Luna v. Cnty. of 12 Kern, 291 F. Supp. 3d 1088, 1143–44 (E.D. Cal. 2013) (applying Garza and holding that laches 13 did not apply to action challenging redistricting plan even though it had been adopted five 14 years earlier because the problem was ongoing and had been getting worse).

15 Just so here. The violation alleged by the Plaintiffs is ongoing and has been getting 16 worse, especially in recent months. The timing of this lawsuit makes perfect sense in that 17 context. Indeed, the FAC specifically calls attention to the fact that number of Federal-Only 18 Voters has only recently started increasing at an alarming rate. ECF No. 12 at 13 ¶¶ 62-67. In 19 the TRO/PI Motion, EZAZ.org specifically explained that “[t]he unprecedentedly rapid rate of 20 increase in the number of Federal-Only Voters this year” has caused it great concern and that 21 “[i]f the registration rates of Federal-Only Voters had not started increasing this year at such 22 unprecedented rates, then there would be less cause for concern, and EZAZ.org would not 23 be forced to expend as much time and money on monitoring the situation.” ECF No. 57 at 24 40-41 (Ex. A) ¶ 21.)

25 The Defendants’ laches argument is particularly inappropriate here because, at its es-26 sence, they are arguing that the Defendants should be free to violate the law with impunity, so long as they can manage to get away with it long enough. The Defendants are trying to twist the doctrine of laches into a new kind of adverse possession for unlawful executive

1 practices. This is wholly inappropriate. As the Arizona Supreme Court has explained, “Plain-2 tiffs’ delay does not excuse the County from its duty to comply with the law.” Arizona Pub.
3 Integrity All. v. Fontes, 250 Ariz. 58, 65 ¶ 30 (2020). And as Justice Scalia has pointed out, there 4 is no “adverse-possession theory of executive authority,” NLRB v. Noel Canning, 573 U.S. 513, 5 570 (2014) (Scalia, J., concurring in the judgment).

6 Nor is there any substance to the Defendants’ argument that the timing of this suit 7 would violate the NVRA’s restriction that prohibits within 90 days of an election “any pro-8 gram the purpose of which is to systematically remove the names of ineligible voters from 9 the official lists of eligible voters.” 52 U.S.C. § 20507(c)(2)(A). The relief sought in this case 10 is merely the sending of a letter to DHS and not the removal of any voters. If any voters end 11 up being removed from voter rolls after DHS has responded to the 1373/1644 Requests 12 from the Defendants, it would only be in response to an individualized investigation 13 prompted by that response, not by any systematic removal. Furthermore, no names could 14 even be removed before the election (and while the NVRA’s 90-day blackout period is in 15 effect) because there are fewer than 35 days before the election, and Arizona law imposes a 16 35-day cure period before any voter can be removed from voter rolls for lack of citizenship.

17 A.R.S. § 16-165(A)(10)

18 IV. Purcell is inapplicable here.

19 The Purcell doctrine does not foreclose relief here. The Defendants extend the Purcell 20 doctrine too far. The primary purpose of the Purcell doctrine is to prevent “voter confusion” 21 by changing election procedures, laws, or rules with which voters must comply to vote. Purcell 22 v. Gonzalez, 127 S.Ct. 5, 7 (2006). Here, the Plaintiffs’ requested relief would not and cannot 23 cause voter confusion, as, based on existing law, every voter registration record that lacks 24 DPOC should already be compared against federal databases to confirm the registrant’s citi-
25 zenship status. The Defendants’ compliance with existing law cannot reasonably cause voter 26 confusion.

1 The Purcell doctrine’s secondary purpose is to prevent last-minute “administrative bur-2 dens for election officials.” Lake v. Hobbs, 623 F.Supp.3d 1015, 1031 (D. Ariz. 2022). How-3 ever, in Merrill v. Milligan, Justice Kavanaugh’s concurring opinion suggested that the adminis-4 trative burdens are tempered where “the changes in question are at least feasible before the 5 election without significant cost, confusion, or hardship.” 142 S.Ct. 879, 881 (2022) (Ka-6 vanaugh, J., concurring).

7 To the extent that the Plaintiffs’ requested relief constitutes a “change” to existing 8 county procedures, the relief is not only feasible, it comes at little cost to the Defendants. In 9 fact, this protracted litigation has expended far more time and resources than would have 10 been expended if the Defendants had simply complied with the Plaintiffs’ reasonable request.
11 Specifically, Plaintiffs relief is limited to an order requiring the Defendants to (1) “submit 12 1373/1644 Requests to DHS” and (2) “‘make available’ and ‘provide’ to the Arizona Attorney 13 General the information about Federal-Only Voters required by A.R.S. § 16-143.” ECF No.
14 57 at 26.

15 Despite the hyperbolic claims of the Defendants and the Proposed-Intervenors, no-16 where in the Plaintiffs’ requested relief is there any demand that the Defendants initiate mass 17 purges of voters. Instead, the Plaintiffs seek to have the Defendants make an inquiry to DHS 18 to investigate the citizenship status of the Federal-Only voters. The Plaintiffs’ requested relief 19 says nothing about how counties should respond to information received from DHS. Instead, 20 the Plaintiffs presume that the Defendants will follow state and federal law to conduct an 21 individualized review of all returned records, and once satisfied with those findings, they will 22 move confirmed citizens to the list of “full-ballot” voters in compliance with A.R.S. § 16-23 121.01(E) and initiate cancellation procedures of foreign citizens as delineated in A.R.S. § 16-24 165(A)(10) and in compliance with the NVRA.

25 Maricopa County’s comparison of this case to Richer v. Fontes, No. CV-24-0221-SA, 26 2024 WL 4299099 (Ariz. Sept. 20, 2024), is inapposite. (See ECF No. 48 at 11-12.) In Richer v.

1 Fontes, Recorder Richer argued that 98,000 voters who had been erroneously marked as hav-
2 ing provided DPOC should “only cast a Federal Only ballot unless and until the voter pre-3 sents DPOC.” Emergency Petition for Special Action at 1-3, Richer v. Fontes, CV-24-0221
4 (Ariz. Sup. Ct.) (Sept. 17, 2024), <https://perma.cc/22AZ-LH2K>. Essentially, Recorder
5 Richer argued that the State should systematically strip 98,000 voters of their right to partici-
6 pate in state and local races just four days before the UOCAVA ballots were to be mailed 7 out. Id.

8 In its order, the Arizona Supreme Court rejected Recorder Richer’s argument and 9 further noted that “subsection (A)(10) recognizes the right of any voter to notice and an 10 opportunity to contest any determination of a voter’s ineligibility” and that a “county recorder 11 can therefore proceed with respect to individual voters under § 16-165(A)(10) as long as the 12 provision’s due process requirements are followed.” Richer, at 3. To the extent that returned 13 records from DHS suggest a registered voter is a foreign citizen, the Plaintiffs expect that the 14 Defendants would provide the exact due process the Arizona Supreme Court affirmed was 15 lawfully available to remove foreign citizens from the voter registration records.

16 Specifically, the Plaintiffs’ requested relief is limited to the Defendants writing a letter
17 to DHS inquiring about the citizenship status of Federal-Only Voters, modeled after Florida 18 (which provided a target list of voters with the inquiry) or South Carolina (which asked for 19 “guidance on the best format in which to provide [DHS] with the lists”). Doc. 57, Ex B & C.
20 As to the second issue, the only relief requested is that the Defendants “make available to the 21 [Arizona] attorney general a list of all individuals” who are Federal-Only Voters and also 22 “provide” to her “the applications of individuals who are” Federal-Only Voters, A.R.S. § 16-23 143(A), by transmitting this information to the Arizona Attorney General. ECF No. 57 at 26.
24 Both prayers for relief are “at least feasible before the election without significant cost, con-25 fusion, or hardship.” Merrill, 142 S.Ct. at 881.
26

1 V. The Plaintiffs are likely to succeed on the merits.

2 A. DHS is required by law to answer all inquiries submitted by the Defend- 3 ants—with or without an alien number included—and federal agencies are pre- 4 sumed to follow the law.

5 The relief that the Plaintiffs seek is very narrow and is required by the NVRA and 6 Arizona law. Specifically, the Plaintiffs only seek an order requiring the Defendants to con-7 duct proper uniform and non-discriminatory list maintenance by making inquiries about the 8 citizenship of all Federal-Only Voters, rather than for just a subset of them, as they currently 9 do. Nothing in the relief requested includes anything more than beginning the investigation 10 process. The Plaintiffs presume that if DHS reports that some Federal-Only Voters are for-11 eign citizens, the Defendants will proceed in compliance with State and federal law, including 12 proper notice and due process to affected individuals, before canceling any voter registrations.

13 The Defendants make much of their claims about whether DHS's Person Centric 14 Query System (PCQS) database can provide information about individuals without an alien 15 number. As explained below, the Defendants are wrong on the facts, but its error is irrelevant.
16 The Defendants' focus on PCQS is a red herring. As explained above in section I.D., courts 17 in the Ninth Circuit must "presume that agencies will follow the law." Pit River Tribe, 615 F.3d 18 at 1082 (citation omitted). The Defendants never dispute that Sections 1373 and 1644 require 19 DHS to respond to inquiries from state and local governments about the immigration status 20 of any individual. How DHS obtains its information, therefore, is irrelevant to this Court's 21 inquiry. This Court must assume that DHS will answer such inquiries because federal law 22 requires it.

23 B. DHS can access information about the immigration status of individuals 24 without an alien number.

25 1. PCQS

26 Even if this Court chooses to delve into the details of what information is available through DHS's databases, the Defendants still lose the argument. The Defendants' own Exhibit 3 (which is DHS's 2016 Privacy Impact Statement about PCQS) contradicts their argument and directly controverts their claim that alien numbers are required to obtain infor-

1 mation from PCQS: “PCQS is also configured to retrieve information from certain IT con-2 nected systems based on the defined search criteria. Users can perform searches by name (with 3 Date of Birth), Name (with Country of Birth), A-Number, Receipt Number, ... SSN, ..., State 4 Issued ID (Driver’s License Number, State Permit ID, or State ID) ...” ECF No. 48-3 at 11.

5 2. LESC / ACRIME

6 Furthermore, PCQS is not the only method available to DHS for obtaining infor-7 mation about the immigration status of individuals. As the Supreme Court has pointed out, 8 through 8 U.S.C. § 1373, “Congress has obligated ICE to respond to any request made by state 9 officials for verification of a person’s citizenship or immigration status,” and one of the ways 10 that DHS ensures compliance with Section 1373 is through “ICE’s Law Enforcement Sup-11 port Center,” (LESC) which “operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year and 12 provides, among other things, immigration status, identity information and real-time assis-13 tance to local, state and federal law enforcement agencies.” Arizona v. United States, 567 U.S.
14 387, 412 (2012) (emphasis added).

15 The LESC uses the “Alien Criminal Response Information Management System (AC-16 RIME)” to respond to Immigration Alien Queries (IAQs) from State and local agencies about 17 the immigration status of individuals. Privacy Impact Assessment for Alien Criminal Response Infor-
18 mation Management System (ACRIME) (hereinafter “ACRIME PLA”), U.S. Dep’t of Homeland
19 Security at 1, (Apr. 22, 2010), <https://perma.cc/GVF7-2N6L>. “The ACRIME Operations 20 Module uses personal identifiers such as name and date of birth from the IAQ to automatically 21 search various criminal, customs, and immigration databases to gather information about the 22 subject of the request.” Id. at 4 (emphasis added). Multiple federal court decisions from 23 around the country that describe procedures used by the LESC confirm that the LESC has 24 the capability of looking up the immigration status of individuals without an alien number, and 25 often using only an individual’s name and date of birth. E.g. United States v. Farias-Gonzalez, 26 556 F.3d 1181, 1183 (11th Cir. 2009) (describing how an Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) “agent ... testified that he had called a law enforcement support center to check the name and date of birth on the identification the man had given them”); United States v.

1 Meza-Gonzalez, No. 517CR008211OLG, 2018 WL 1792171, at *2 (W.D. Tex. Apr. 16, 2018)
2 (describing how an ICE agent “called the Law Enforcement Support Center (‘LESC’) oper-
3 ated by the Department of Homeland Security (HSI),” which was able to obtain information 4 about the individual’s prior immigration history using the person’s “name and date of birth”); 5 United States v. Vasquez-Ortiz, No. 1:07-CR-348-CC-AJB, 2008 WL 11449053, at *5 (N.D. Ga.
6 June 13, 2008), aff’d, 344 F. App’x 551 (11th Cir. 2009) (describing how an ICE agent working 7 in conjunction with the FBI obtained a “defendant’s name and date of birth” and then 8 “checked the defendant’s name with the Law Enforcement Support Center”); see also Mendoza 9 v. United States Immigr. & Customs Enft., 849 F.3d 408, 413–14 (8th Cir. 2017) (describing how 10 a local jail booking agent called an ICE toll-free number and an ICE agent obtained an in-11 mate’s “name ... date of birth, parents’ names, and social security number” and place of birth, 12 with which the LESC “found two files that matched [the inmate’s] information.”)

13 Of course, it makes perfect sense that DHS would be able to search its own databases 14 and find information about individuals without needing an alien number. How could our 15 nation’s immigration enforcement agency conduct basic operations under the absurd con-16 straints that the Defendants wrongly attribute to it? DHS is a major federal law enforcement 17 agency. How could it be that DHS would be powerless to look up information about any 18 individual lacking an alien number? To accept the Defendants’ fanciful claims would require 19 this Court “to exhibit a naivete from which ordinary citizens are free.” Dep’t of Commerce v.
20 New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2575 (2019).

21 C. The information available through 1373/1644 Requests qualifies as a “da-22 tabase.”

23 The information access guaranteed by Sections 1373 and 1644 qualifies as a “database” 24 under Arizona law. The relevant Arizona statutes that require the Defendants to search fed-25 eral databases do not define the meaning of the term “database.” A.R.S. § 16-121.01(D)(5); 26 A.R.S. § 16-165(K). Neither do Arizona’s election statutes more generally define the meaning of the term “database.” Arizona law requires that terms not defined in statute be given their “commonly accepted meanings.” Planned Parenthood Arizona, Inc. v. Mayes, 257 Ariz. 110, 115

1 ¶ 16 (2024); see also A.R.S. § 1-213 (“Words and phrases shall be construed according to the 2 common and approved use of the language.”).

3 Black’s Law Dictionary defines “database” as “[a] compilation of information ar-4 ranged in a systematic way and offering a means of finding specific elements it contains, often 5 today by electronic means.” Database, Black’s Law Dictionary (12th ed. 2024). Similarly, the 6 American Heritage Dictionary defines “database” as “[a] collection of data arranged for ease 7 and speed of search and retrieval.” Database, American Heritage Dictionary, (5th ed.).

8 Sections 1373 and 1644 guarantee to State and local agencies receipt of “information 9 regarding the immigration status, lawful or unlawful, of an alien in the United States.” 8 U.S.C.
10 § 1644; see also 8 U.S.C. 1373 (requiring DHS to “respond to an inquiry by a Federal, State, or 11 local government agency, seeking to verify or ascertain the citizenship or immigration status 12 of any individual within the jurisdiction of the agency for any purpose authorized by law.”)
13 By operation of federal statute, therefore, the county recorders have access to DHS’s infor-
14 mation about the immigration status of every registered voter. This information in DHS’s 15 possession is compiled, collected, and arranged.

16 This is obvious both in the abstract and in the practical application. The particular 17 instantiations of how DHS organizes its information that are discussed in this brief, PCQS
18 and ACRIME, are routinely described by DHS and by courts as “databases.”

19 There is thus no truth to the Defendants’ claim that “PCQS is not a database.” ECF 20 No. 48 at 15-16. Multiple federal courts around the county, including the Ninth Circuit, have 21 said precisely the opposite, characterizing it as a database. See, e.g., Gonzalez v. United States
22 Immigr. & Customs Enft, 975 F.3d 788, 821 (9th Cir. 2020) (including PCQS in list of “sixteen 23 databases” relied on by ICE when determining whether to issue an immigration detainer); 24 Enriquez-Perdomo v. Newman, 54 F.4th 855, 859 (6th Cir. 2022) (describing declaration submit-25 ted by ICE officer stating that “his office conducted searches in USCIS’s... ‘Person Centric Query 26 Service’ (PCQS) database[]” and that stated “he reviewed the CLAIMS, PCQS, and ‘ENFORCE Alien Removal Module’ (EARM) databases” (emphasis added)); Treez, Inc. v. United States Dep’t

2 2024) (describing declaration submitted by DHS that “addresse[d] the databases Defendants 3 can search and methodologies they can use to locate files related to ... petitions for nonimmigrant 4 workers,” and explaining that [t]hese databases and methodologies include ... Person Cen-
5 tric Query System (“PCQS”)” (emphasis added)); United States v. Perez, No. 3:18-CR-30, 2021 WL

7 about how “he had conducted searches on ... the PCQS, NCIC and NLETS databases (em-8 phasis added)); United States v. Meza-Gonzalez, No. 17-CR-2552-GPC, 2018 WL 3752780, at 10 tion or criminal history” of detainees and explaining that “[d]uring this process several 11 databases are checked, including the SDlaw criminal history database and PCQS immigration 12 databases.” (emphasis added)); Jud. Watch, Inc. v. United States Dep’t of Homeland Sec., 59 F. Supp.

13 3d 184, 191 (D.D.C. 2014) (in FOIA lawsuit, describing declaration submitted by DHS stating 14 that the agency search for responsive documents included “a variety of DHS computer data- 15 bases that store records and data relating to the processing of immigration benefits and peti-16 tions, including ... the Person Centric Query System (PCQS)” (cleaned up) (emphasis added)); 19 ... the Person Centric Query System (“PCQS”)” (emphasis added)).

20 The same holds true for ACRIME. See ACRIME PLA, at 9 (“ACRIME provides auto-21 mated search capabilities of various government databases”); United States v. Robles-Velasco, 22 No. 5:22-CR-00263-DSF, 2024 WL 3259569, at *1 (C.D. Cal. July 1, 2024) (explaining that 23 “immigration authorities have access to various databases, including ... the Alien Criminal Re- 24 sponse Information Management System (ACRIME)” and describing how deportation officer had 25 been “conducting a routine database check of the ACRIME” (emphasis added)).

1 D. List maintenance that includes SAVE checks and not 1373/1644 Requests
2 violates the NVRA’s uniformity and nondiscrimination requirements.

3 The NVRA requires that voter list maintenance must be “uniform [and] nondiscriminatory.” 52 U.S.C. § 20507(b)(1). In their TRO/PI Brief, the plaintiffs argued that these 4 requirements are violated when “voter-roll maintenance singles out one group of voters for 5 different treatment.” ECF No. 57 at 6. Maricopa County never disputes that this is the correct 6 standard. It merely contends that “this Court already held that citizenship inquiries utilizing 7 SAVE do not violate the NVRA’s uniformity requirement.” ECF No. 48 at 16 (citing Mi
8 Familia Vota v. Fontes, --- F.Supp.3d ---, 2024 WL 862406, at *42-43 (D. Ariz. Feb. 29, 2024).
9 However, this argument is a non sequitur. Mi Familia never made a blanket holding that SAVE 10 checks are always and forever permissible under the NVRA, but only that SAVE checks 11 passed muster under the facts as alleged in that case. The Mi Familia decision never considered 12 whether SAVE checks might violate the NVRA’s uniformity and nondiscrimination require-13 ments in light of the availability of 1373/1644 Requests.

14 Given that the Defendants concede (as they must) the NVRA is violated when voter-15 roll maintenance singles out one group of voters for different treatment, there is no plausible 16 scenario in which the Defendants could get away with conducting SAVE checks on Federal-17 Only Voters who have provided an alien number (and who are, therefore, not natural born 18 citizens) and not submitting 1373/1644 Requests for all other Federal-Only Voters (who are 19 either natural-born citizens or unlawfully present aliens).

20 VI. The Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable harm.

21 For the same reasons explained above in Section I about the harm the Plaintiffs will 22 suffer for purposes of the standing analysis, the Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable harm absent 23 relief from this Court.

24 VII. The balance of hardships favors the Plaintiffs.

25 The requested relief will cause no harm to the Defendants—the only thing they will 26 have to do is send letters to DHS and the Arizona Attorney General. However, the relief will alleviate significant hardship that the Plaintiffs are suffering because of the Defendants’ failures.

1 VIII. Proposed-Intervenor DNC's Eleventh and Fourteenth Amendment claims are 2 inapplicable

3 Finally, Proposed-Intervenor Democratic National Committee (“DNC”) suggests that 4 because “four of [Plaintiffs’] five causes of action—and all of the relief [Plaintiffs] seek in 5 their motion—are solely concerned with what Arizona law requires of Arizona officials[,]” 6 the Eleventh Amendment prohibits federal courts from “‘instruct[ing] state officials on how 7 to conform their conduct to state law,’ even when such claims are ‘masked under federal 8 law.’” ECF No. 46-3 at 11 (quoting Bonyer v. Ducey, 506 F.Supp. 3d 699, 716 (D. Ariz. 2020)).

9 However, as noted in the DNC’s Response, Eleventh Amendment immunity was 10 waived by Maricopa County because it “invoke[d] federal judicial authority.” See Embury v.
11 King, 361 F. 3d 562, 566 (9th Cir. 2004). And despite the DNC raising this defense, none of 12 the counties joined in the DNC’s response. (See ECF Nos. 52 (Pinal), 53 (Yavapai), 54 (Nav-13 ajo), 66 (Coconino), 67 (Pima), 69 (Apache), 71 (Yuma), 73 (Graham), 74 (Cochise), 77 14 (Greenlee), 80 (La Paz), 81 (Santa Cruz), 82 (Mohave), and 84 (Gila)). “[T]he decision to 15 invoke sovereign immunity belongs to the state.” Jackson v. Abercrombie, 884 F.Supp.2d 1065, 16 1082 (D. Hawaii, 2012) (citations omitted). Here, none of the Defendants have invoked the 17 Eleventh Amendment, and the DNC, as Proposed-Intervenor, cannot force the counties to 18 invoke sovereign immunity. Id.

19 Because the Eleventh Amendment cannot be invoked by the DNC and has not been 20 invoked by any of the county Defendants, the arguments that the equal protection clause of 21 the Fourteenth Amendment could or would be violated are inapplicable as all counties will 22 be similarly bound by any order of this Court.
